Protect your organisation and your customers in the event of a breach.

Data breaches can happen to any organisation, even with the best data security practices in place.

And if it happens, your customers will want to know what you are doing to protect them.

Regulatory changes are being discussed in Europe. Below are the penalties imposed in 2013 in the US versus the EU.

US Penalties	UK Penalties	Rest of EU Penalties
£54,510,312	£3,262,500	£21,401,620

- Fast response times
- Support your customers
- Help you protect your reputation

“Identity fraud costs UK consumers an estimated £3.3bn per annum. 27% of the UK population will be a victim of fraud at some time.”

NFA Annual Fraud Indicator June 2013

What is identity fraud?

Identity fraud occurs when someone's personal information is used by someone else without their permission to obtain money, credit, goods or other services.

Equifax can support your brand, your customers and employees

We have a full customer support package which can be activated within 24-72 hours from sign-off to initial response.

Should you report a breach?

It is not always mandatory to report a data breach to customers and employees in the UK. However, informing them can be an essential part of protecting your brand and reputation.

Regulations are changing all the time. With Equifax Breach Assistance we can help you get the right advice for your business to put in place the best processes to protect your customers and employees.

“GLOBAL DATA PRIVACY
COMPLIANCE
IS NEITHER OPTIONAL
NOR A PASTIME.”

Ensure you adhere to data privacy and regulatory requirements

While the maximum fine with the ICO is £500K, reputational damage to your brand can be substantial. Further, businesses regulated by the FCA can receive unlimited fines.

Mandatory reporting to the ICO

“Organisations who provide a service allowing members of the public to send electronic messages (eg telecoms providers or internet service providers) are required to notify us if a personal data breach occurs.”

[ICO website http://ico.org.uk/for_organisations/privacy_and_electronic_communications/the_guide/security_breaches]

FCA requirements – Risk of unlimited fines

FCA regulated firms must have effective processes and safeguards in place to identify, manage, monitor and report the risks it is, or might be, exposed to.

Without effective systems and control procedures, firms are likely to find themselves subject to greater regulatory scrutiny and could even face enforcement.

Equifax Data Breach Solutions means you can be ready should a breach occur

Telecoms providers and ISPs are the first corporate organisations to be impacted by mandatory reporting. As well as reputational damage, this means Telcos have to consider FCA regulation and PECR notification requirements.

As a company lawyer, you hope a breach will never happen. However, as with any incident, you need to have a response plan if it does.

As a legal professional, data breach could end up on your list of priorities. If it does, you will need to act fast, limit the impact on customers, respond to the risk of regulatory fines and limit reputational damage.

Equifax will work with you to help put in place a data breach solution for your organisation, quickly and confidentially.

Pre-Breach

Why wait until a breach occurs? By working with the Equifax Data Breach team you can create a pre-breach strategy, so if the worst occurs you have a solution defined and ready. This enables a faster and more customer-focused response which in turn helps limit negative impact on your organisation and brand.

Post-Breach

Even if you have not prepared for a breach and the worst happens, Equifax is ready to help you respond quickly. We can support you in initiating a full breach response plan, up and running within days, and designed to be compliant with your organisational and customer needs.

Equifax Data Breach Solutions can help

Data privacy and legal response

Support regulatory compliance

Multiple requirements that may span different geographical regions.

Mitigate legal ramifications

Early and appropriate notification, and ID monitoring, of the credit file can save an organisation time and litigation expenses.

Maintain customer, employee and stakeholder trust

Notification and support is important to promote transparency and trust.

Increase customer involvement

Credit and web monitoring will allow your customers to take a pro-active role in protecting their identities.

Finding the right Data Privacy Lawyers to support all other aspects of your breach can be an essential part of your organisation's response. Equifax has experience of working with UK and global privacy lawyers, helping ensure that both the right advice and fast support are given to ensure customers are protected from the impact of a data breach.
